Ellie is a Family Nurse Practitioner, so she can care for patients across the lifespan. As a primary care clinician, she sees patients for a wide range of non-emergent health concerns. She greatly enjoys the preventive side of primary care because it allows patients to take their health into their own hands. She also loves orthopedic concerns because she worked as an orthopedic nurse for several years.

Ellie grew up in La Crosse, WI and currently lives in Wauwatosa with her husband. In her free time, she loves to run, get out in nature and try new recipes with her husband. As a new resident to the Milwaukee area, she is excited to take in all the city has to offer.
